

Salary Certificate Request Policy

Northgate Group — HR Policy | Version 3.1 | Effective 1 January 2026 | Owner: People Operations

1. What a Salary Certificate Is

A salary certificate is an official letter issued by People Operations confirming an employee's job title, date of joining and current salary. It is printed on company letterhead, signed by an authorised signatory and stamped with the company seal. It is most often required by banks for loan or credit card applications, by landlords for tenancy agreements, and by embassies supporting a visa application.

A salary certificate is not the same as a payslip, an employment letter or a no objection certificate. Requests for those documents are covered by the Document Request Policy and the NOC Request Policy.

2. How to Request a Salary Certificate

Raise an HR request in the employee portal, select the request type Document Request, and set the document type to Salary Certificate. Describe in the request what the certificate is needed for and who it should be addressed to. Requests sent by direct message or by email to an individual member of People Operations will not be actioned and will be redirected to the portal.

3. Required Employee Information

A request cannot be processed until all of the following details have been provided. Missing information is the most common cause of delay.

- Full legal name exactly as it appears on the passport or national identity document.
- Employee identification number.
- The name of the addressee, for example the bank, embassy or landlord.
- The purpose of the request, for example a mortgage application or a visa application.
- Whether a full salary breakdown is required, or basic salary only.
- Whether an attested or stamped hard copy is needed in addition to the digital copy.

4. Processing Time

The standard processing time is three business days from the point at which a complete request is received. The clock starts when the last piece of required information is provided, not when the request was first raised. Requests submitted after 15:00 are treated as received on the next business day.

Requests requiring external attestation or legalisation take longer and are quoted separately, normally five to ten business days depending on the authority involved. Expedited processing may be requested for genuine emergencies and is granted at the discretion of People Operations.

5. Collection Method

A digital copy is issued as a signed PDF and attached to the original request in the employee portal. The employee is notified when the request status changes to Resolved.

Where a stamped hard copy is required it may be collected in person from the People Operations desk between 09:00 and 16:00 on business days, on presentation of a company identity card. Hard copies are not posted to home addresses and are not released to a third party without the employee's written authorisation.

6. Limitations and Common Reasons for Delay

- Salary information is never released directly to a third party without the employee's written consent.
- Certificates are issued for current employees only; former employees should request an experience letter instead.
- A certificate cannot be issued in a currency other than the payroll currency.
- Requests that omit the addressee or the purpose are returned to the employee and the processing clock resets.
- Only one salary certificate is issued per purpose; a reissue requires a new request explaining why.
